Presentazione volume "Guida per il riconoscimento del polline negli ambienti forestali della Pianura Padana. Atlante dei tipi di polline delle fanerofite della Riserva Naturale Bosco della Fontana".

Il Laboratorio di Palinologia e Paleoecologia del CNR-IDPA di Milano e il Corpo Forestale dello Stato hanno pubblicato il volume "Guida per il riconoscimento del polline negli ambienti forestali della Pianura Padana. Atlante dei tipi di polline delle fanerofite della Riserva Naturale Bosco della Fontana".

Il Bosco della Fontana è considerato uno degli ultimi relitti di foresta planiziale della Pianura Padana e ospita numerose specie altrove scomparse o fortemente ridotte. Da qui proviene il polline di 59 piante, descritto nell'atlante attraverso testi, disegni e fotografie al microscopio ottico ed elettronico. L'atlante, composto da 144 pagine, si rivolge ad un pubblico eterogeneo, dall'appassionato di botanica all'esperto palinologo. I capitoli introduttivi guidano il lettore alla scoperta dell'ecosistema del Bosco della Fontana, delle forme biologiche che ospita, delle modalità di produzione e dispersione del polline e delle tecniche di identificazione al microscopio. A ciascuna delle 59 specie studiate è dedicata una scheda che ne illustra l'aspetto macroscopico e microscopico; vengono inoltre forniti cenni sulla storia delle specie, ricostruita grazie a ricerche su polline fossile, frutti e semi, carboni conservati nei sedimenti di laghi e torbiere.

14. Conference of Environmental Archaeology 2018

The conference will take place 26th - 28th February 2018 in Modena

Organized by LPP Laboratory of Palynology and Palaeobotany

Department of Life Science

University of Modena and Reggio Emilia

First Circular: Announcement

We want to disseminate that we are organizing the next CEA with the main topic:

Humans and environmental sustainability: Lessons from the past ecosystems of Europe and Northern Africa

Deadline for pre-registration and abstract submission is October 31st 2017

Registration and payment (after abstract acceptance) should be December 20th 2017

The 14th Conference of Environmental Archaeology will be organized at the Modena and Reggio Emilia University by LPP- Laboratory of Palynology and Palaeobotany and will be hosted by the Department of Life Science. Modena is a historically important town, built on a Roman-Medieval urban map with spectacular Italian architecture, located in the Po valley of northern Italy.

Multidisciplinary bio-geo-archeo contributions on environmental reconstructions and palaeoecological research involving analyses of human and animal bones, plant macroremains, phytoliths, non pollen palynomorphs and pollen, sometimes also integrated to isotopic or molecular data, are welcome.

Workshop participants may present their research in form of short presentation or poster.

Web site: coming soon, with updated information (mid-July)

Abstract submission, registration form and details about program will be available online.

Details of abstract submission, registration of participants, accompanying persons, payment details and hotels will be reported in the website.

REGISTRATION FEES

Regular registration fee: 160 €, and 180 € for late registration.

Field trip (optional): 25 €

Reduced registration fee (not permanent positions): 100 €, and 120 € for late registration.

Reduced registration fee (students, fellowships): 50 €, and 70 € for late registration.
